

SAGES

Scottish Alliance for Geoscience, Environment and Society

World-leading expertise in geoscience and environmental science from across Scotland's research base

Join SAGES

Apply on-line to Join SAGES:
www.sages.ac.uk/join/

Contacts

Professor Mark E. Inall
SAGES Director
SAMS, Scottish Marine Institute
Oban, Argyll PA37 1QA
e: mark.inall@sams.ac.uk
t: +44 (0)1631 559 267

Carol Thomson
SAGES Administrator
University of Glasgow
e: Carol.Thomson@glasgow.ac.uk
t: +44 (0)141 330 4208

info@sages.ac.uk
@ScotSAGES

SAGES is a multi-disciplinary alliance at the forefront of earth and environmental science research and education.

We are a partnership between the Universities of Aberdeen, Abertay Dundee, Dundee, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Highlands & Islands (through SAMS), St Andrews, Stirling and West of Scotland, the British Geological Survey and SUERC, the Scottish Universities Environmental Research Centre.

A powerful voice in Earth and Environmental Science. The REF2014 combined research power in Earth and Environmental Sciences of SAGES exceeded by 60% that of Oxbridge and London.

www.sages.ac.uk

THE UNIVERSITY of EDINBURGH

The Benefits of Membership

SAGES Phase 2: 2015-2020

SAGES is a multi-disciplinary alliance at the forefront of earth and environmental science research and education.

- Core budget of £1.36M (50% from SFC, 50% from member institutions)
- Researcher support funds: £246k
- Post-graduate studentship scheme: £315k
- Support funds from SFC: £48k currently available under two schemes:
 - PEER (Pools Engagement in European Research)
 - PECRE (Early Career Researcher Exchanges; Europe, North America, China and India)
- Research themes, Research fora and Small Grants
 - Four research themes
 - Fora developed in response to members' requirements – core funding available
 - Annual Research Conference
- Graduate School
 - Co-funding for 9 new PhD studentships
 - Training events
 - Networking events
 - Mentoring (for early-career researchers)
- Shared facilities and equipment
 - Centre for Earth System Dynamics (University of Edinburgh)
 - Shared infrastructure available to members www.sages.ac.uk/about/facilities/
- Policy and industry links
 - SAGES-hosted partnering events
 - Engagement with Innovation Centres
 - Partnership with ECCI – monthly SAGES opportunities update for members <http://edinburghcentre.org/>
 - Roll-out of concise policy interface documents
- International opportunities
 - Gateway to Scotland for international postgraduate students in environmental geoscience.

Categories of Membership

Full Members – free to employees of Institutional partners

Affiliate Members – individuals not employed by partner institutions, £100 annual subscription
www.sages.ac.uk/join

New Institutional membership – contact SAGES Director: mark.inall@sams.ac.uk

www.sages.ac.uk

SAGES | Scottish Alliance for GeoScience, Environment and Society

SAGES is funded by the Scottish Funding Council